

HIGH HOLY DAYS @SHUL

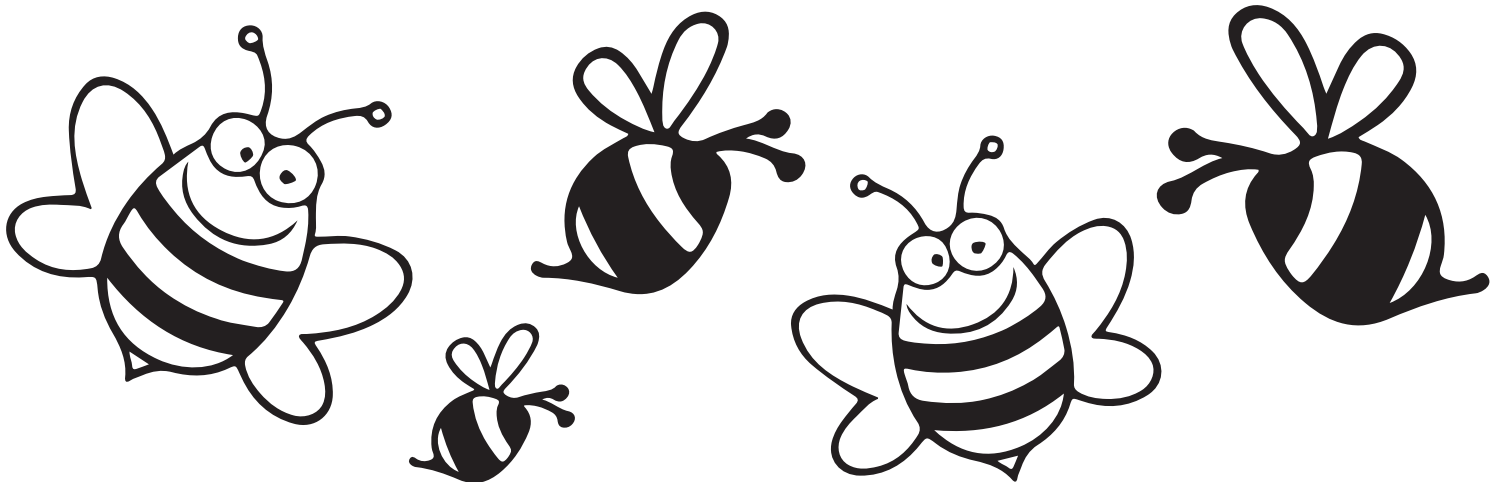

L'Shana Tova!

from Jewish LearningWorks

This booklet was created to be used @home or @shul, with the needs of all types of learners and all levels of observance in mind. We understand that some people may want to use pens or pencils to complete the activities and others may not. To use this booklet without pens or pencils, or to create a more sensory experience, gather the following materials.

1. Felt or paper shapes - Use the cover page as a template to create a pomegranate, honey jar, shofar and apple.
2. Stickers - Use stickers to decorate and play games.
3. A small object or toy - Use it to travel through mazes and search for words.

We are committed to inclusion. This booklet was created with the needs of all types of learners and all levels of observance in mind. Visit jewishlearningworks.org to find more resources for families and kids of all needs and abilities.

Special thanks to jewishhomeschool.blogspot.com and Miryum Mochkin for resources and ideas.

Abby Apple!

Help her find her way into the pot of honey
in time for Rosh Hashana!

On Rosh Hashana
we celebrate the Jewish New Year.
We blow the shofar,
we dip apples in
honey and we offer
wishes for a sweet
new year.

Help Abby Apple get to Shul
in time for Yom Kippur!

On Yom Kippur we say we're sorry and we commit to trying better next time.

Story Time with Jackson, the Raisin!

Jackson is excited!

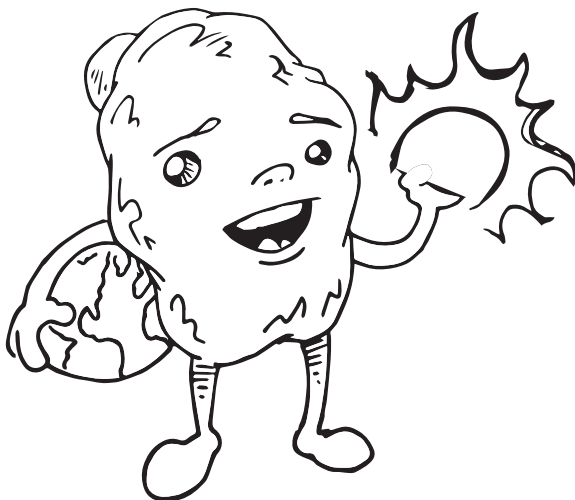

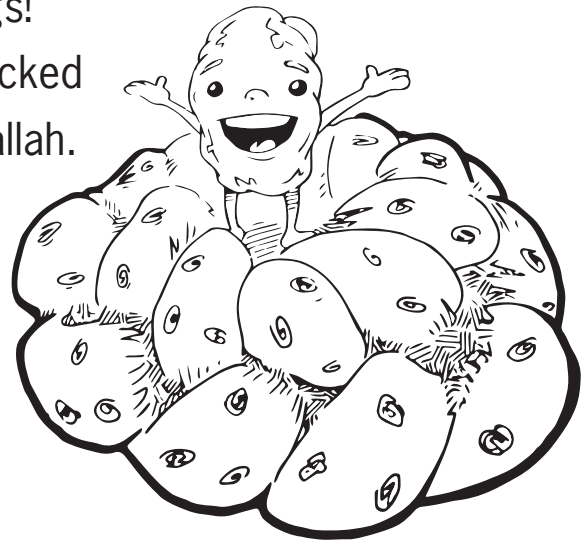

Rosh Hashana is coming!

Rosh Hashana is Jackson's favorite holiday.

Apples and honey, blessings and songs!

He loves to celebrate the New Year tucked and braided into a golden spiraled challah.

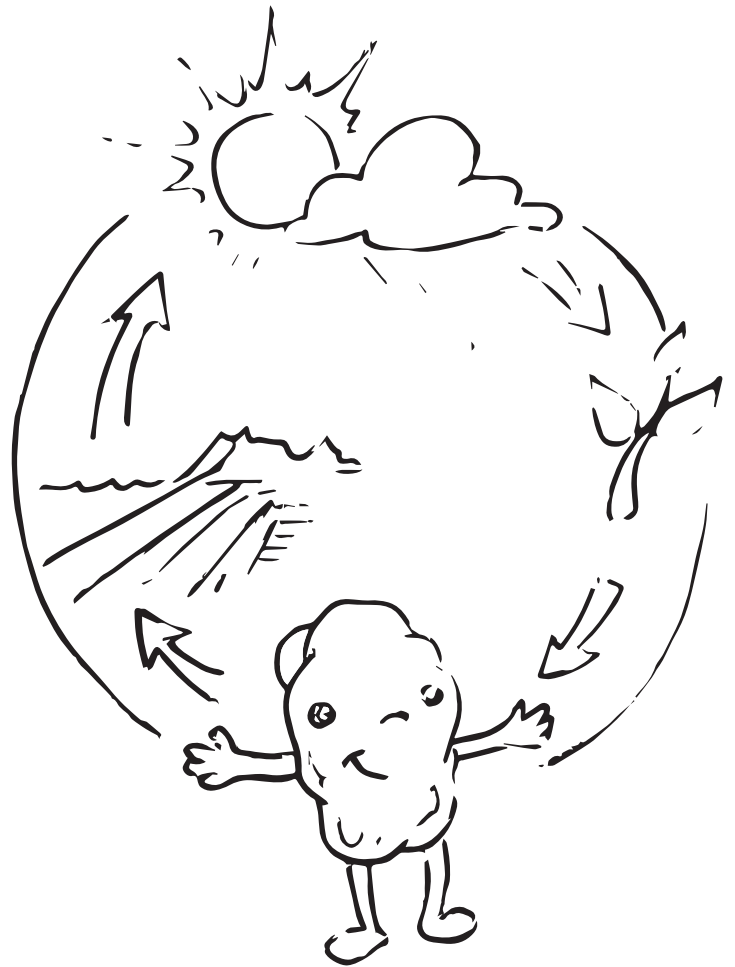

The circular shape is beautiful.

Shiny. Perfect.

It reminds him of the sun.

It reminds him of the earth.

It reminds him of the 7 days of creation and the never ending circle of life.

It reminds him that each year, and really,
each day, is a new opportunity to start fresh.

Jackson loves Rosh Hashana!
